FREE ROOF INSPECTIONS

Before a product or system can be selected or even recommended, a complete inspection of your roof system needs to be conducted to determine your roof's condition and problems. Republic offers no-obligation roof inspections necessary to provide you with the most beneficial solution to your particular roofing need.

ROOF PROBLEMS

deteriorated panels

areas of light and heavy rust

damaged or leaking ridge caps and stacks

open or lifted seams

loose or missing fasteners

flaking or peeling paint on previously coated roofs

weathered or leaking skylights

damaged gutters and areas of discharged contaminants

Your metal roof inspection will cover two main areas — the surface condition of the roof panels and the details such as seams, fasteners, skylights and roof top equipment, since these areas are where most leaks begin.

Republic offers several options for your metal roof system, from our signature aluminum roof coating, Alumanation 301, perfect for protection against water infiltration, rust and deterioration of metal panels to our acrylic Solargard that fits when a watertight white or colored roof is desired. Whichever product you choose for your building's roofing needs, Republic, an ISO 9001 certified company, provides the strictest quality controls to ensure product consistency and performance.

STRESS-FREE APPLICATION

Throughout the United States and Canada, Republic has a select group of contractors who are trained and experienced in installing all of Republic's products. Your Republic representative can provide you with names of contractors in your area, taking the guesswork out of selecting a quality contractor.

LONG-TERM PERFORMANCE

Republic offers a variety of warranties to ensure the performance of your metal roof coating system. For material and labor warranted roof coating projects, Republic inspectors will provide job site inspections to ensure that your roof coating system will provide you with years of quality service life.

SOLARGARD

Acrylic Roof Coating System

A fibrated, acrylic coating bridges small imperfections in the roof surface and provides long-term waterproofing protection in a single coat.

- Reduces energy costs with its highly reflective white surface
- Fibrated formula bridges small gaps
- Elastomeric quality allows the coating to move with the roof
- One-coat application reduces installation costs
- Available in custom and 12 standard pastel colors
- Material and labor warranties available

ALUMANATION 301

Aluminum Roof Coating System

A fibrated, aluminum coating provides waterproofing and rustproofing in a one-coat application.

- Most economical solution
- Provides rustproofing
- One-coat application
- No primer is needed
- 15% metallic content for high reflectivity
- Material and labor warranties available

SEAM SEALER

By simply adding Seam Sealer, an elastomeric seam treatment, to metal seams, fasteners and roof penetrations prior to coating it with either Solargard or Alumanation 301, your roof will be waterproof. This seam treatment provides the necessary reinforcement to your metal roof system to allow for the expanding and contracting inherent in metal roofs. Coupled with a monolithic layer of Solargard or Alumanation 301, your roof will be watertight for years to come.

IS YOUR METAL ROOF RUSTED?

Rust is a sign of deterioration of your metal roof or wall. If neglected, the rust will eventually eat right through the metal paneling making replacement your only option. A restoration coating, in addition to stopping the deterioration, can restore your roof to its original luster at a fraction of the cost of replacement.

DOES YOUR METAL ROOF LEAK WHEN IT RAINS?

If so, your metal roof probably has gaps at the horizontal and vertical seams or penetrations from roof top equipment or fasteners. A metal restoration seam system followed by a restoration coating can reseal these overlapping seams and prevent water from entering your building.
